What they say

"We pride ourselves on providing our clients with a holistic, whole-life security and resilience consulting service. This new SABRE certification means we can offer our clients greater transparency on spending and reinforces the need for a structured, risk-based approach to security. It gives our clients further confidence, allows us to continually adapt and provide innovative technologies and solutions whilst reinforcing the need for early consideration of security issues."

ARUP

"Security and guest safety are really important design considerations. WATG have always regarded security an integrated part of the design process. We have welcomed the SABRE initiative because it provides an independent, holistic view of the property and a realistic approach to the delivery of project security."

WATG

"We are very proud to become the first hotel in the world to obtain SABRE certification. Safety of our guests is our paramount priority and I am very proud that our efforts here at The St. Regis Astana have been recognised and certified by such a respected global authority."
